Updated on 17 Jun 2022 1 Minute to read The unit provides a serial (RS232) console port (RJ45) to manage the equipment using a serial port on a management station. After logging in, you can enable or disable the console port. To enable or disable the console port Access the page System ► Configuration ► Console. Verify the current state of the console port in the Console State field. Click Enable Console or Disable Console as required. The console port provides a CLI interface to the unit. Refer to the CLI Command Guide for information on how to use the CLI. To use the console port, you must use a terminal emulation program with the following settings: Terminal Emulation Settings Parameter Setting Protocol Serial Port COM 1 to 8 Baud Rate 115200 Data Bits 8 Parity None Stop Bits 1 Flow Control None You can connect the serial port on the management station to the RJ45 console port on the unit using the following diagrams and table.
